

EDITORS

CHIEF

Ana Schmidt is a Junior/Senior. She is addicted to the food channel. Can't eat anything she bakes. Is not so secretly in love with Cormac McCarthy. And loves stilted sentences. Fin.

FICTION

Andrew Braddock is a senior fiction editor, finishing a double degree in creative writing and public relations. He is a tutor in the Writing Center, and likes to help people with their academic papers. When Andrew is not in a caffeinated consciousness on campus, you will most likely find him reading, spending time with friends, or playing pool at Rico's Pub. He loves you.

Katherine Naulty is a senior Rhetoric and Professional Writing major with a minor in Political Science. She is currently the Associate Director of Student Legal Services and an Administrative Tutor at the Writing Center. Her favorite thing to do is to sit on her front porch wrapped in a big blanket, feeling the brisk morning while drinking a hot cup of tea. She loves pugs, cute cat photos, reading closing legal arguments, and family holiday festivities.

Emily Noyes is a senior aiming for a Communication degree. She is easily excitable and runs off coffee. She dreams of one day finding her fortune in an old chest from the Goodwill and using her wealth to buy groceries, pay bills and then maybe feed some puppies.

POETRY

Regan Bell is a transfer student in her junior year. She's majoring in Creative Writing and working on her Communications minor. This is her first year with LandEscapes and she plans to one day vacillate between New York, where she'll work in the publishing industry, and South Africa, where she plans to save the great white sharks.

Blair Rezny is a bearded American. He is finishing his degree in political science and ethics. Please refrain from stroking the whiskers of this hale and hearty creature without permission.

Marcela Rodriguez is a Rhetoric and Professional Writing major. She loves photography, rain, daffodils, Neruda and high-fiving trees.

ART

Kelline Blake has always been passionate about drawing, painting, and crafting, and excited to now help LandEscapes promote the artists of WSU. She is a DTC major and Professional Writing minor, and hopes to go into editing and publishing after graduating.

Amber Larks is nineteen years young and starry-eyed about the world, life, and its possibilities. She has a soft spot in her heart for photography, animals, nostalgia, and delicious chocolate-y desserts. Her wanderlust grows greater every year...and wherever her travels take her, her camera will be in hand.

Cera Rodriguez is a crazy person who does everything to be involved in the art world. She will graduate from Washington State University with an English degree focused in Creative Writing, all the while spending her academic time involved with the Compton Union Building Arts Committee, being the chair of the Visual, Performing, Literary Arts Committee, and oh yes, going to classes. Cera loves to paint, draw, or paint and draw, or even draw and paint. She has an obsession using blues and yellows, a problem that she attributes to her love of Wes Anderson films and Day of the Dead. Radiohead, Interpol, TV on the Radio, and the Arcade Fire run through her bloodstream, and if you catch Cera at her hungriest points, she will make you enchiladas.

NONFICTION

Jessica Schloss is earning her bachelors in English and Digital Technology and Culture. She is also completing a minor in Biology. She is one of the nonfiction editors with LandEscapes, and an intern with Blood Orange Review. Jessica hopes to be an editor after she graduates.

Josie Tarr likes pina coladas and taking walks in the rain. She also likes rainbows, sunshine and butterflies (but not moths), as well as sci-fi and fantasy books. Sadly, she is not the red-haired guitarist/leader of a certain 70s band, the reference to which she will be subjected to forever.

Jill Warwick loves Netflix, sleep, country music and the color green. She is a communication major and will graduate in May.

MUSIC & DIGITAL

Karl Howell is a Junior English education major at Washington State University. He enjoys listening and playing music, specifically crazy Heavy Metal. Karl tries to actively participate in that scene as much as possible, but is a member and plays quite a bit with the significantly more mellow local band, Soulstice.

Adrienne McCullough is a sophomore at Washington State University. She is a Communications Major and Film Studies Minor and plans on going into advertising. This is her first year with LandEscapes. She is excited to be a part of the team as a Digital Multimedia/Music Editor.

WEB

Mara Almanzor is a short, sweet, and extremely dedicated individual. She is a caffeine-addicted insomniac with high hopes and big dreams. And currently as a sophomore at WSU she is majoring in Digital Technology and Culture with a Multimedia Authoring concentration and double minor-ing in Fine Arts and Film Studies.

MARKETING

Kaelyn Cole is a sophomore who plans on getting a major in Communication with a specification in Advertising. She also hopes to get minors in English and DTC before she graduates. Her goal is to study abroad in England for the duration of her junior year.

DESIGN

Kelsey Johnson is a pluviophile who hails from the west side. She loves coloring books and classic films, and if she knows the song that's playing, you'll always catch her singing along. As a sophomore in the DTC major, she is passionate about design.

Molly Dolan, as a senior at Washington State University, graduated in the Fall of 2013. She double majored in Digital Technology and Culture and Spanish with a minor in Fine Arts. She loves painting, design, drawing, photography, and anything else that involves using her creativity. She plans on traveling the world one day, and is happy she finished up school at WSU and will continue to cheer on the Cougs.
